

Julie E. Parisi

Shareholder

Julie Parisi was raised by a community of attorneys. Being surrounded by positive role models in the legal profession has greatly influenced how Julie approaches her practice. This example of passionate legal representation and dedication to community involvement leads her to approach all disputes with the understanding that there is humanity and reason in the legal profession.

Litigation is by nature adversarial and often times unavoidable, but Julie believes that real progress is made when all parties – attorneys, clients, third parties – exercise that reason to reach resolution, rather than unnecessary and expensive fighting. She enjoys working with all types of clients, from those who look to her for creative ideas of possible resolution, to those who approach litigation as a collaborative process.

Julie's clients appreciate her availability to calmly navigate them through the litigation process, which can be tough and hard to understand. She finds that communication goes a long way to ease uncertainty, and strives to make every client feel like they have been heard. Julie loves the opportunities to meet so many interesting, smart, funny and creative people, and enjoys how her clients give her motivation to constantly push herself to be the best attorney she can be.

Outside of practicing law, you might find Julie running, playing trivia, cheering on the Royals and Jayhawks, and spending time with her husband and daughters.
