
McClannahan Featured in Ingram's Magazine

Cindy McClannahan, shareholder and chair of Estate Planning, Business Succession, Probate, and Trust, was quoted in the March Issue of Ingram's Magazine. The article, "Transitions: Making the Team Work" features the advisers behind the deal of business succession planning.

As quoted in the article, "It is usually best to start with your existing advisers when you are preparing your business for sale," said Cindy McClannahan, a partner specializing in transactions for the Seigfreid Bingham law firm. "They should know your business almost as well as you do."

Read the full article here.