Seigfreid Bingham Sponsors 2026 Breakfast of Champions Event

Seigfreid Bingham was proud to sponsor the 2026 Breakfast of Champions, hosted by the Center for Practical Bioethics on September 17 at Children's Mercy Park. The annual fundraiser brought together healthcare professionals, community leaders, and others to support the advancement of ethical decision-making in healthcare.

As a firm that regularly serves healthcare providers and organizations throughout the region, Seigfreid Bingham is committed to supporting initiatives that strengthen the healthcare community and encourage thoughtful discussion of the ethical issues facing patients, families, and providers. Therefore, we were thrilled to support the Center's important work and its ongoing efforts to improve healthcare decision-making across our community.

Attorneys Lori Beam, Kenzie Clark, Mark Opara, Seth Snyder, and Colby Stone, along with law clerks Luke Severt and Josie Carey, attended the event. Colby also served on the event planning committee through his role on the Center for Practical Bioethics Board of Directors.
