

Seigfreid Bingham Supports Client and Community

Seigfreid Bingham is pleased to share recent ways the firm has supported its clients and the community through sponsorships and other initiatives.

In July 2024, Seigfreid Bingham was the presenting sponsor for the Mid-America Intercollegiate Athletics Association (MIAA) 2024 Football Media Day. The event occurred in Kansas City, Missouri, providing a platform for MIAA players and coaches to interact with the media and officially kick off the 2024 football season. Attorneys Greg Whiston and Tate Thompson attended the event and were pleased to support our client.

Also, in July 2024, the firm hosted two students from the Kansas City Metropolitan Bar Foundation (KCMBF) and the Partnership for Regional Educational Preparation-Kansas City (PREP-KC)'s Student Law Academy (SLA) during their Job Shadow Program. While the students were visiting our firm, they met with several attorneys and staff members to learn about all aspects of the legal industry. The firm's Diversity and Inclusion Committee Chair, (Attorney) Rachel Sterbenz, managed this initiative.

Lastly, the firm is a proud sponsor of the Commercial Real Estate Women (CREW) Kansas City organization, which attorneys René Calabrese, Emily Crane, and Heather Jones are all involved in. This sponsorship helps CREW KC with its "innovative agenda that includes career outreach, quality programming, leadership development, and community outreach."

To learn more about MIAA Football Media Day, please click here. Learn more about the KCMBF Prep-KC SLA Job Shadow Program here. Find more information on the CREW KC sponsorship here.