

Seigfreid Bingham welcomes 2016 summer associates

Seigfreid Bingham, P.C. is pleased to welcome Bailie Schnackenberg and David Weber as its 2016 summer associates.  Bailie joins the firm from Washburn School of Law, where she will be a third year student this fall. Bailie was born and raised in Independence, Missouri and attended college at Park University in Parkville, Missouri, graduating in 2014 with a BA in Legal Studies and Political Science. During college, Bailie worked for the Secret Service, U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services, Worlds of Fun, and a local bankruptcy attorney, all while enrolling in excess courses to graduate in three years. Bailie moved to Topeka, Kansas in 2014 to attend law school at Washburn, where she is a comments editor on the Washburn Law Journal and a former vice-president of the Christian Legal Society. In her free time, Bailie enjoys reading, spending time with her husband and family, and attending her younger brother's baseball games. Bailie said she is excited to learn all she can during her summer at Seigfreid Bingham!  David joins the firm from Washington University School of Law in St. Louis, Missouri, where he will be a third year student this fall. David grew up in Blue Springs, Missouri and attended college at Loyola University Chicago, where he earned a BA in Political Science and Rhetorical Theory. David is the captain of Washington University's competition trial team and a publishing member of the school's Global Studies Law Review. David said he is excited to join the firm as a summer associate.
